No. CR 08-744-TUC-CKJ

ORDER

14 Pending before the Court is Defendant's Motion for Release on Bond Pending Appeal
15 (Doc. 443). The government has filed a response and Defendant has filed a reply.

16 Defendant Chris Nero ("Nero") requests this Court to allow him to remain out of 17 custody pending appeal. The applicable statute provides, inter alia:

18 (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), the judicial officer shall order that a person 19 who has been found guilty of an offense and sentenced to a term of imprisonment, and who has filed an appeal . . . be detained, unless the judicial officer finds --

20 (A) by clear and convincing evidence that the person is not likely to flee or 21 pose a danger to the safety of any other person or the community if released under section 3142(b) or (c) of this title; and

22 (B) that the appeal is not for the purpose of delay and raises a substantial 23 question of law or fact likely to result in --

24 (i) reversal,

25 (ii) an order for a new trial,

26 (iii) a sentence that does not include a term of imprisonment, or

27 (iv) a reduced sentence to a term of imprisonment less than the total of 28 the time already served plus the expected duration of the appeal process.

1 18 U.S.C. § 3143(b).

2 “Although danger to the community and flight risk are threshold factors under § 3 3143(b)(1)(A), in that context the court considers only whether the defendant has proved by 4 clear and convincing evidence that he is ‘not likely’ to flee or pose a danger to others.”
5 United States v. Garcia, 340 F.3d 1013, 1021 n. 6 (9th Cir. 2003); United States v. Wheeler, 6 795 F.2d 839 (9th Cir. 1986) (appellant/defendant has burden of showing he is not a flight
7 risk or a danger to any person or the community). In his motion, Nero conclusorily asserts 8 the record establishes by clear and convincing evidence that he is not likely to flee or pose 9 a danger to the safety of any other person or the community if released pending appeal. In 10 his reply Nero points out that he appeared for sentencing under more dire potential 11 circumstances than he faces now because he has already served a portion of his sentence and 12 he believes he will succeed on appeal. While Nero acknowledges that his telephone 13 communications while incarcerated may show that he intends to leave the United States once 14 this case is over, the communications do not indicate that Nero will flee if released on bond.
15 However, Nero is now aware of the length of his incarceration and the amount of restitution
16 owed. The Court finds Nero has not failed to show by clear and convincing evidence that 17 he is not likely to flee if released.

18 Nero also asserts that he is not a danger to the safety of any other person or the 19 community if released. Specifically, Nero asserts that the excerpts of transcripts of recorded 20 telephone calls made after Nero was sentenced to prison show that he has never indicated an 21 intent to physically harm anyone. However, the excerpts include statements that Nero will 22 "liquidate" the "sons of bitches that put [Nero] behind prison for no reason[,]” when he gets 23 out “everybody better stand down because [Nero has] so much fuck’ fire inside of [him], it
24 is going to be fuckin’ forest fire and there aint’s a damn fuckin’ thing anybody can do to stop
25 [him,]” when Nero gets out of prison he will “fuck over a lot of people[,]” and he is coming
26 back with vengeance. Response, Ex. 1. These statements, when viewed in light of Nero’s 27 history (e.g., conviction for drug trafficking offense in which Nero carried a loaded firearm, 28

1 conviction for Furnishing Obscene or Harmful Items to a Minor, DUI convictions, and 2 allegations of domestic abuse and armed robbery), establishes by clear and convincing
3 evidence that Nero is likely to pose a danger to the safety of any other person or the 4 community if released.

5 The Court finds Nero's appeal is brought in good faith and not for the purpose of 6 delay.

7 Even if clear and convincing evidence had established that Nero is not likely to flee
8 or pose a danger to the safety of any other person or the community if released, the Court
9 finds release pending appeal is not appropriate. As previously stated, the appeal must raise 10 a substantial question of law or fact likely to result in a reversal (or other favorable result as 11 set forth in the statute). A "substantial question" is one that is fairly debatable or fairly 12 doubtful. It is a question of more substance than would be necessary to a finding it was not 13 frivolous. Garcia, 340 F.3d 1013 (9th Cir. 2003); United States v. Montoya, 908 F.2d 450
14 (9th Cir. 1990).<sup>1</sup> The type of question that must be presented is one that is "likely to result 15 in a reversal ...." United States v. Handy, 761 F.2d 1279, 1280 (9th Cir. 1985). This second 16 part of the inquiry "concerns only the type of question that meets the requirement; it does not 17 involve assessing the likelihood that a reversal will occur in the particular case." Garcia, 340
18 F.3d at 1020, n. 5, citing Handy, 761 F.3d at 1280. In other words, under this part of the 19 inquiry, a defendant need only present "a non-frivolous issue that, if decided in the

21 <sup>1</sup>While a defendant does not need to demonstrate at the outset of the appellate 22 proceedings that the appeal will probably result in a reversal, a defendant must argue that the 23 "chance for reversal is substantial." Handy, 761 F.2d at 1280, quoting S.Rep. No. 98-225, 24 98th Cong., 2d Sess. 27 reprinted in 1984 U.S.Code Cong. & Ad. News 3182, 3210. The Handy
25 court also stated: "The question may be 'substantial' even though the judge or justice hearing 26 the application for bail would affirm on the merits of the appeal. The question may be new and 27 novel. It may present unique facts not plainly covered by the controlling precedents. It may 28 involve important questions concerning the scope and meaning of decisions of the Supreme Court. The application of well-settled principles to the facts of the instant case may raise issues that are fairly debatable." Id. at 1281, quoting D'Aquino v. United States, 180 F.2d 271, 272 (11th Cir.1950).

1 defendant's favor, would likely result in reversal or could satisfy one of the other four 2 conditions.” Id.

3 The Court concludes that Nero's appeal does not raise a “substantial question of law
4 or fact” because he has not raised an issue that is “fairly debatable” or “fairly doubtful.” See
5 Handy, 761 F.3d at 1283; 18 U.S.C. § 3143(b)(1). The essence of Nero’s appeal is that 6 counsel was ineffective and that the Court erred in denying his motion to withdraw his guilty
7 plea. However, challenging a conviction based on ineffective assistance of counsel by way
8 of a habeas corpus petition is the preferred method because it permits a defendant to develop
9 the record. See United States v. Laughlin, 933 F.2d 786, 788-89 (9th Cir. 1991).<sup>2</sup>
10 Furthermore, Nero filed his motions to withdraw his guilty plea after he had been sentenced.
11 Nero’s reliance on United States v. Kapelushnik, 306 F.3d 1090, 1093-94 (11th Cir. 2002),
12 for his assertion that this Court retained jurisdiction until the issuance of the final restitution
13 order fails to recognize the Ninth Circuit authority that indicates this Court lacked 14 jurisdiction. See United States v. Baker, 790 F.2d 1437, 1438 (9th Cir. 1986); see also 15 United States v. Dolan, 130 S.Ct. 2533 (2010) (a “sentence that imposes an order of 16 restitution is a final judgment” notwithstanding the fact the order may be subsequently 17 changed).

18 Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED Nero’s Motion for Release on Bond Pending
19 Appeal (Doc. 443) is DENIED.

20 DATED this 9th day of August, 2012.

26
27 <sup>2</sup>Additionally, the Court notes that Nero’s written plea agreement and in-court
28 discussions appear to refute Nero’s claims of ineffective assistance of counsel.
